Glendale — Top 10 Ranking.

Glendale has come in at number ten nationally on Forbes "America's Safest Cities" list. The city was ranked as the 10th safest city of the larger metropolitan cities within the United States. Forbes based their ranking from an analysis of violent crimes and fatal traffic accidents within the larger cities throughout America.

Bus Route Changes Go Into Effect Monday. Due to state transit funding cuts, bus service adjustments will go into effect on Monday, October 25, 2010 that will impact two Valley Metro bus routes in Glendale.

Valley Metro Route 186 – Union Hills Road will be reduced to hourly service in Glendale. This change will not impact weekday Route 186 bus service in Phoenix, which will still operate every 30 minutes. All trips that do not continue into Glendale from Phoenix will stop at 51st Avenue. Weekend and holiday service will remain the same as posted in the Transit Book.

In addition, Valley Metro Route 138 – Thunderbird Road will discontinue all bus service from 59th Avenue to 67th Avenue. This change impacts all weekday, weekend and holiday bus service.

Despite these two changes to the city's fixed route service, Glendale's other transit services remain fully funded. Dial-a-Ride, Gus Bus and the Taxi Subsidy Program are fully operational for residents.

For more information about the Route 138 or Route 186 service changes, or any Valley Metro transit service, visit www.valleymetro.org or call 602-253-5000.
